Former U.S. Tennis Champion Commits Suicide
Today

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Malcolm D. Whitman, 36, a member of the tennis team of Yale and Whitman and former United States tennis champion, committed suicide today by leaping from his penthouse apartment five-story apartment house at 136 East 67th street.

The body landed in the courtyard of an adjoining apartment building.

Associates told police Whitman had been suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Malcolm D. Whitman, Sr., was a lawyer in addition to being vice-president of the company his late father, William Whitman, founded and of which his brother, William Whitman, Jr., is now president.

He was graduated from Harvard in 1909 and from Harvard law school in 1912. He married Janet A. McKee, who died in 1909. He had one child, a daughter, later Lucille De Vere.

Whitman held the U.S. singles tennis championship for three years, from 1908 to 1910 and was runner-up for the title in 1907. He was a contemporary player of the late, famous tennis player, Bill Johnston, who was a contemporary player of the late, famous tennis player, Bill Johnston.

Opening works of 1933 will see Canada established as an important source of that great boon of suffering humanity—radium. Less than three years after the discovery of radium on the shores of Great Bear lake in far north-west, the first minute but valuable shipment of the rare element will go forward from the newly-completed plant at Port Hope to the radiological laboratory established by the Ontario government at Toronto, to be used for preparation of radium emanation for distribution throughout the province. HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

This intoxicating little beauty with a mischievous wink is Alice Jane. A native of Iowa, she entered the movies a few years ago as a dancer in singing pictures and hung on waiting for a break. She has it now in the form of a Warner Brothers contract.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28.—If you suddenly were set down in the center of the film colony, how would you expect to be greeted by the stars whose faces you know so well?

If you have imagined just what those greetings would be like, you are probably disappointed. Scarcely of the stars, naturally, have different greetings for different friends, but many have "stock greetings" for all comers.

Marion Davies, who nearly always carries a beret—she seldom wears it—just waves that. Norma Shearer as a rule just smiles. Clark Gable will hail. "How'm I doing?" Robert Montgomery's salutation always is "Hello, baby." Lionel Barrymore just grins. Wally Beery beams almost broadly upon the audience. Helen Hayes just waves her arm. Polly Moran's favorite is, "Where've you been?"

"Schneize!" Durante heartily pumps the arm of every he greets.

The story, "Home Town," Boy Makes Good, is a familiar one, but this time it's about a girl. And the girl, Dorothy Jordan, still is talking about the Atlantic ocean out 60 feet wider at some times than others, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told today.

Will Haywood didn't think the title of Universal's picture, "They Had to Get Married," quite proper. So he asked that it be scrubbed up a bit and now will be released as "They Just Had to Get Married."

A film trade paper recently carried an advertisement of Tiffany Thayer's. Among the titles listed under his name were "The Call of the Wild," "Star-Spangled Banner," "Cassanova's Memoirs," "Bound to Win," "Gladie Turner's Cabin," "Birth of a Nation," "The Specialist," "Call Her Savage," "Thirteen Women," "Daphne," "Ben Hur," and "The Holy Bible."

And a film magazine after reading it exclaimed, "When did Thayer find time to write all those books?"

As compared with 1931, sheen on farms in Canada decreased by 40.79 in 1932. The white cattle increased by 503,100. Sheep decreased by 77,300. Turkeys, game and ducks increased by 246,300, 44,600 and 30,700, respectively. Hens and chickens on farms decreased by 1,728,200, making a net decrease for all poultry of 1,207,800.

DOMINION PUT IN HARD SPOT DURING PARLEY

One Foot in Empire, and Other Outside, Says Ex-University Man

TORONTO, Dec. 28.—Dr. A. L. Bart, of University of Minnesota and formerly of University of Alberta, told the American Historical Association here yesterday that the United States was the cause and reason for the present system of tariffs in the British Empire.

Dr. Bart, a Canadian, credited loss of the American colonies at the time of the American revolution with causing Great Britain to grant Canada the measure of self-government she gained from time to time until she became a full-fledged dominion.

He said it was "naïve to suppose that Canadian interests can be separated from those of the United States."

The proximity of the United States and the linkages of Canadian interests with those of the American people, he said, made it a peculiar bargaining position at the Ottawa Economic Conference last summer.

"She had one foot in the Empire and the other in the declaration of independence," he declared. Sometimes she played the United States strong on the one hand and the British Empire weak on the other.

More than 400 historians from coast to coast in Canada and the United States assembled for the opening of the three-day fifth annual convention of the Association of American Historians here for the first time.

Dr. Bart said he had heard numerous technical papers and listened to pleas from more than one speaker that the historians convening themselves with the public but that they have not been heard.

Dr. U. F. Fauskner of Smith College, who is president of the historians for what he described as their belated efforts to deal with problems of the day, including the business depression.

"During the five months, including July, since the Imperial Economic conference opened in Ottawa, the experts have been busy. Their work has been totalled in value $118,811, completed in value $108,048 in the same period last year."

Dr. Bart said he had seen a showing at the Empire theatre for the last time today. The "Grand Hotel" has gone into the making of this film, as in both a historical and story fashion as a background of a vast public meeting, he said.

No matter what the characters do, however, the Grand Hotel remains the principal protagonist. It plays the role of life. Life goes on there. Characters may rise and fall. But the Grand Hotel remains the same.

Clive Brook plays the title role in this new film picture and the leading feminine role is enacted by Miriam Jordan, who left the stage to play a featured role in "Six Hours to Live," with Warner Baxter.

Ernest Torrence appears as "Mortimer," the constant "man of straw," and other important roles are portrayed by Alan Morley, Roy D'Arcy, Monte Blue, and Andy Clyde. Howard Leeds, Brandon Hurst, Clive Brook, Lucien Prilly and Stanley Fields.

Showing at the Capitol for the last time today is "Tess of the Storm Country," with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell.

Capitol Holding Frolic Saturday

Capitol theatre patrons are reminded that the big New Year's Eve two hours of "whooops" will start at 10:30 p.m. on Saturday night. The attraction will be for Frederick Lonsdale's famous masterpiece "The Maid of the Mountains." The great picture is packed with love and romance, boasts some famous refrains and magnificent sets.

Don't overlook the Capitol theatre for a big evening of frivolity and entertainment on New Year's Eve. More than $500 in gifts will be given away to the first 100 patrons.

Those who have attended "Maid of the Mountains" in previous years will find it a new experience.

During the year 1930 the total retail trade of Ontario exceeded $1,200,000,000 by $722,000,000. The most important group was food with a business of $254,000,000.

Labor, U.F.A. To Join Forces With C.C.F. Politically

Opinion Expressed by Responsible Labor Leader Here

That Labor and the United Farmers of Alberta will undoubtedly join hands with the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, politically and align themselves with the organization in future political battles in Canada is the opinion expressed by responsible Labor leaders in Edmonton following a resolution passed at the Central Council of the Canadian Labor party held in Edmonton on Tuesday night. The resolution endorsed the affiliation of the provincial section of the Labor party with the C. C. F. and was voted forward with the recommendation that it be accepted generally to the convention of the provincial section of the Labor party which meets in Calgary on January 7.

The resolution means that while there will be no affiliation with the U.F.A. as a provincial section, the Labor party as a provincial section, would tie up with the C. C. F. as a provincial section.

JOINT MOVEMENT

It is also stated that the United Farmers of Alberta will join the movement in the same manner. That is, that the U. F. A. will probably take no action, but that the larger provincial units will align themselves with the C. C. F. organization.

Ald. C. L. Gibbs, M. L. A., of Edmonton, who is a member of the provincial section of the Labor party at Calgary on January 7, will probably take no action, but that the larger provincial units will align themselves with the C. C. F. organization.

Mystery Surrounds Injuries To Man

Investigation by police got under way Wednesday morning in efforts to learn how and when Ben Tredwell, 1942 107 avenue, sustained the injuries which resulted in his admission to the hospital on Tuesday night. The injured man, who had sustained a fractured rib, was brought to the hospital by two strangers, who were later identified as being the same men who had been injured in a collision with a car on the same street.

Howard Wilson, of the C.P.R. city office, is leaving on a special trip along the Brazeau river in company of Earl Harcourt.

After influenza doctors recommend GUINNESS

"I have found Guinness of great value as a general tonic and builder, especially after influenza. It has also an excellent digestive action when taken along with food."

M.B., Ch.B.

"In cases of influenza where there is much loss of flesh, Guinness is useful, and I have never seen anything but benefit from it in others. I have proved it myself."

Out of the Depression Comes a Possible Good—

PEOPLE ARE THINKING!

NEVER has there been so great a demand for serious, unbiased, impartial reading matter. Under the impact of strange new economic forces which have played havoc with smug ideas of the past, there exists a determined effort to re-examine old economic and social concepts and to analyze dispassionately new ones to replace them.

People are finding that the Edmonton Bulletin is already alive to this trend and has sought to lay before its readers a host of challenging, thought-provoking and informative articles.

Bulletin editorial opinion, too, reflects the same progressive tone. Bulletin editors write it as they see it, free from either the dead hand of the past or the dictation of outside interests.

You are sure to find yourself in tune with the policies of—
